"At a Georgia camp meeting" is a trite but expressive phrase which has literally solid wood and stone buildings, and unmeeting is destined to become a certain and solid factor in the distinctive religious features of the world. And When He Called Up Boston He folks is largely what the conference and Bible institutes are to other places. But at the camp meeting there is greater freedom than at the other meetings. It is a time when religion runs riot, and also when the happy hearted feel free to worship God carefree under the spreading trees and away from the bustle of hu-

Can't Sleep with a Clock. From the New York Sup.

"Not all people," said the jeweler, "like the ticking of a clock; it is a pleasant sound to most people, but not to all, "Some people, clock lovers these, couldn't sleep without a clock in the same room. Its ticking is company, and it seares away the spooks. Such people would wake up if the clock should stop in the middle of the night.

"But there are other people who can't sleep with a clock in the same room, and who if they found themselves in a strange place anywhere with a clock in their sleeping apartment would stop the clock before they went to bed.
"Of course there is much of habit in this: but we have our fancies about clocks, as we do about all things clse.'
